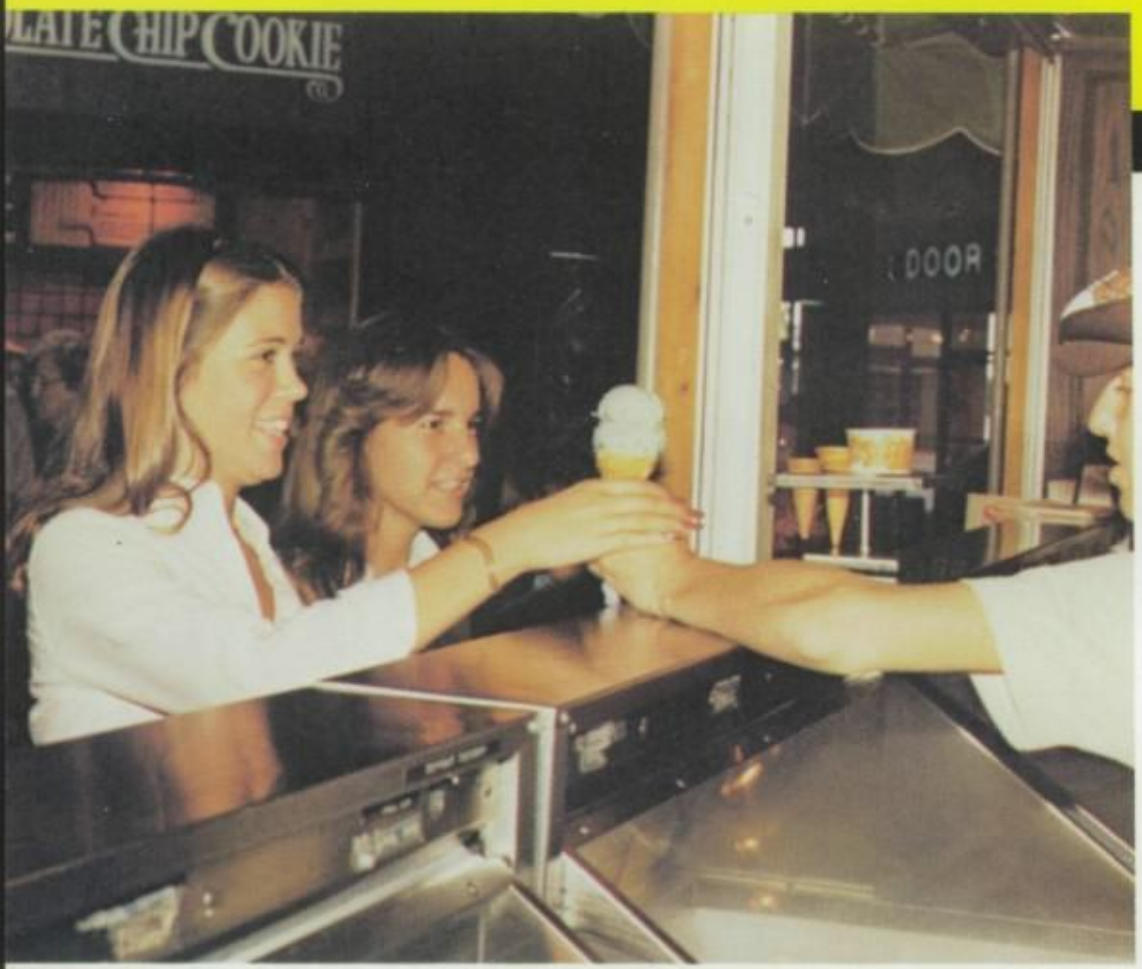
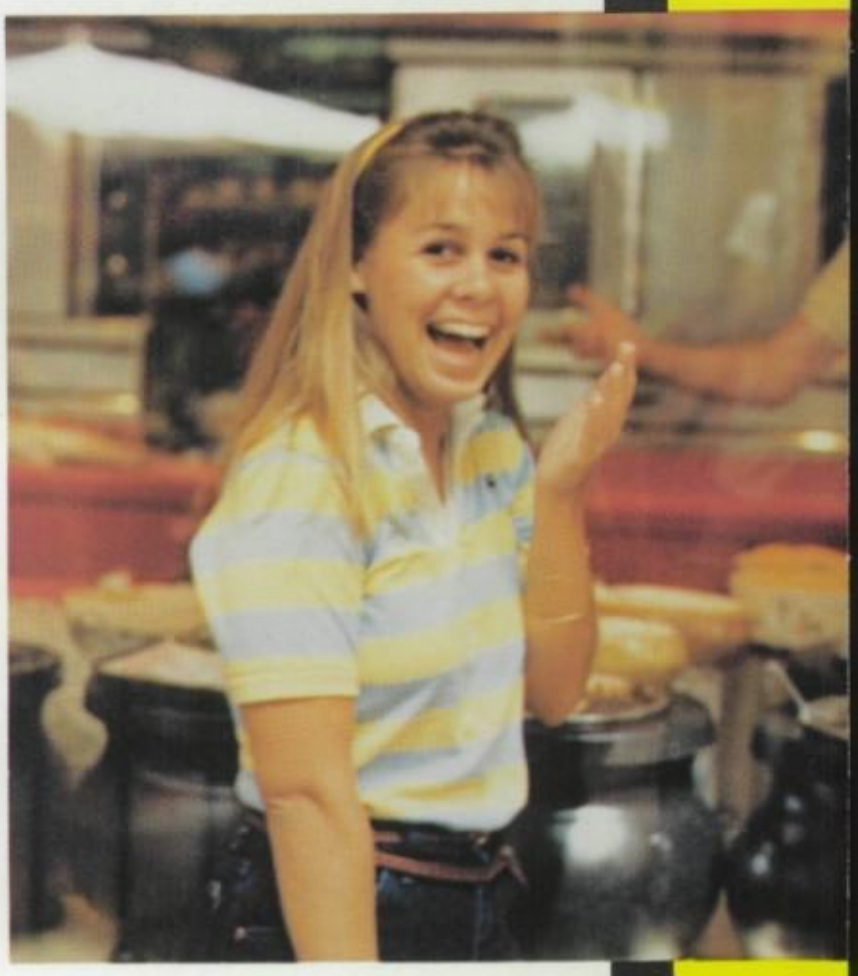
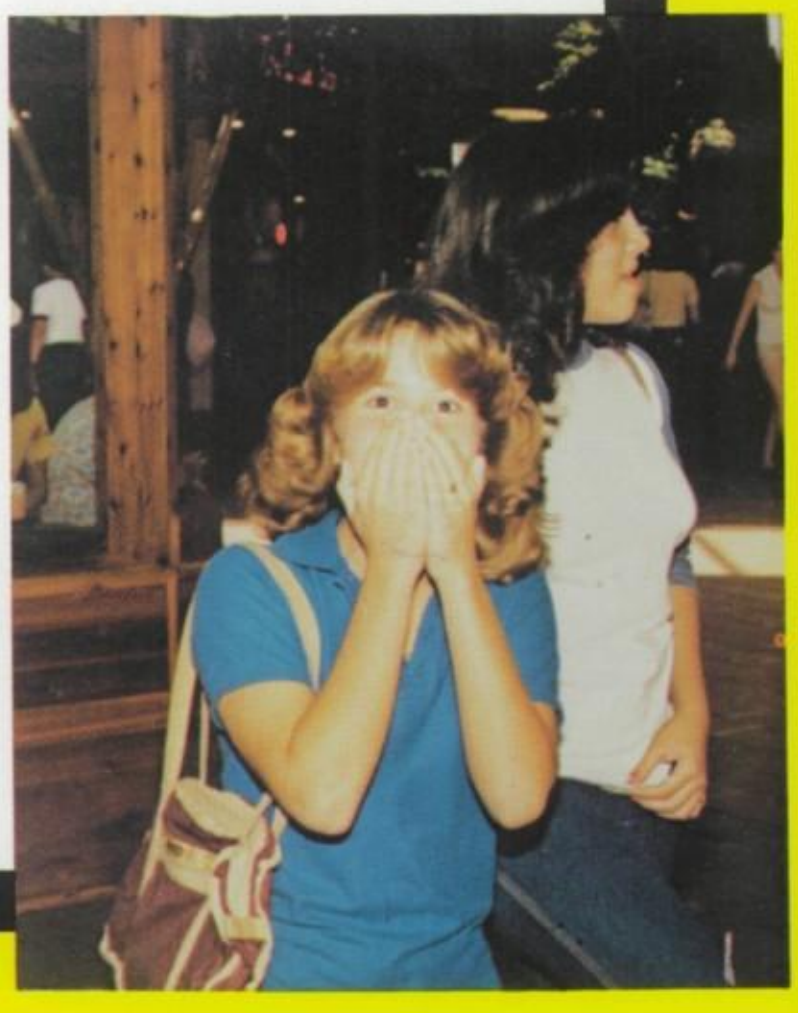
FASHION
LIMBURGE

Now, good digestion wait on appetite.

So cares and joys abound, as seasons fleet.







BROWARD

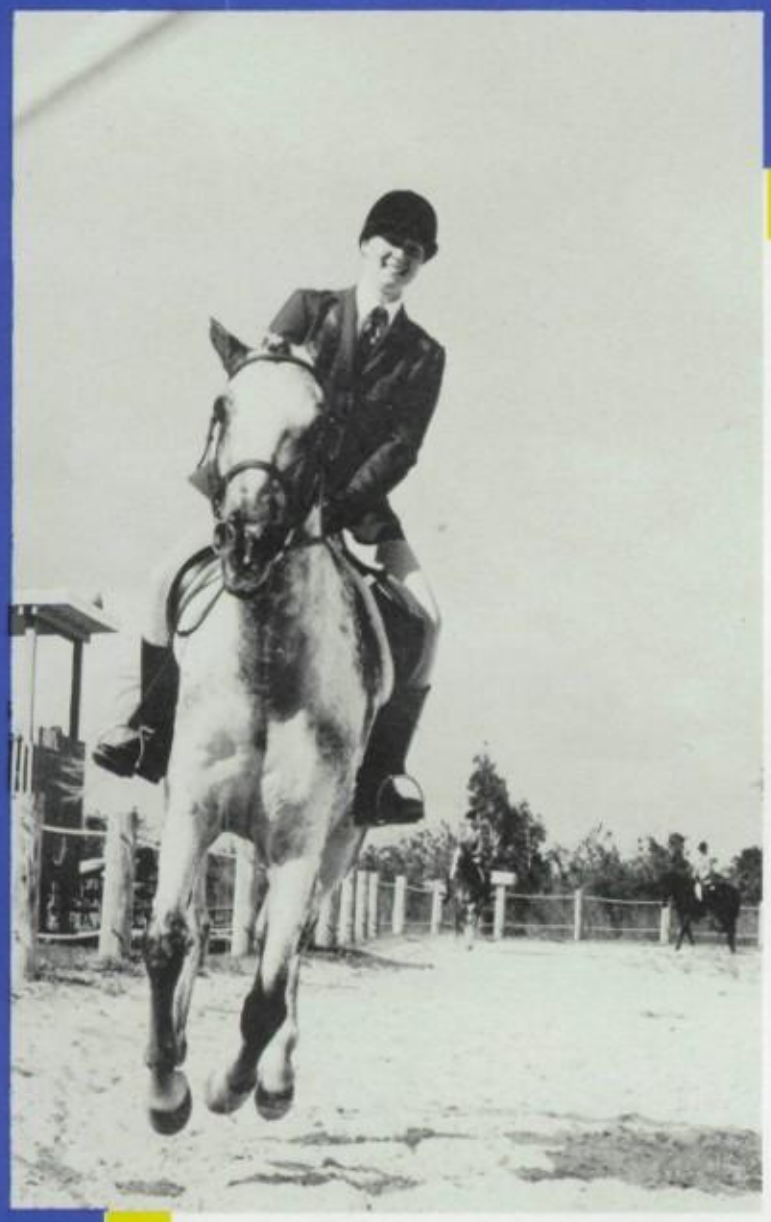
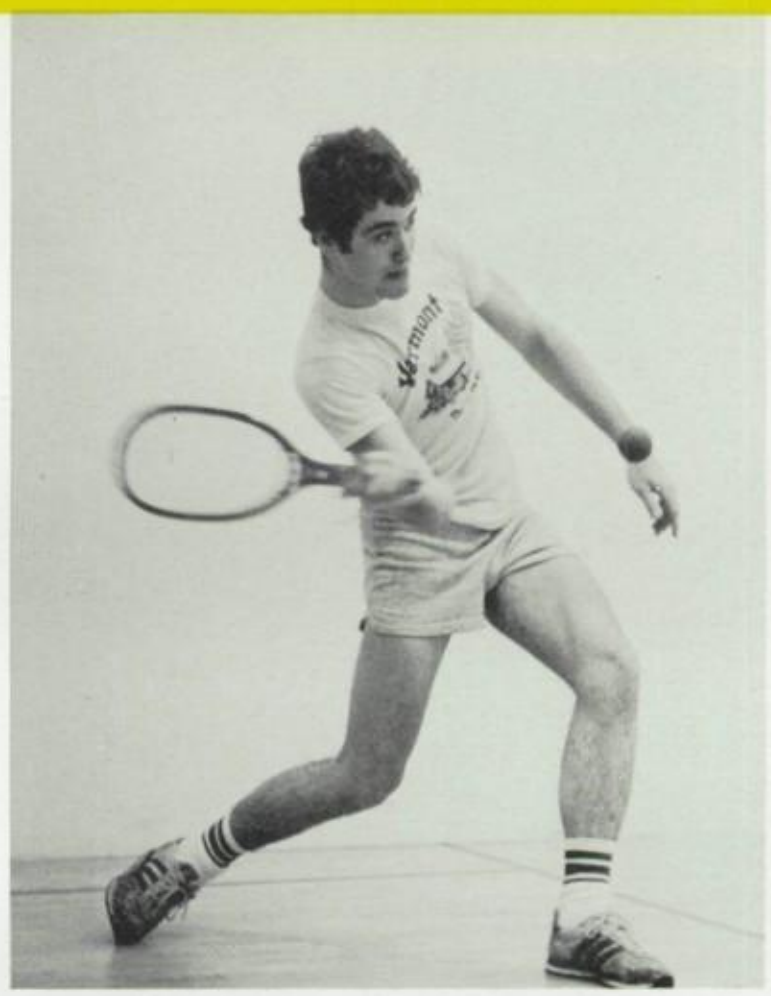
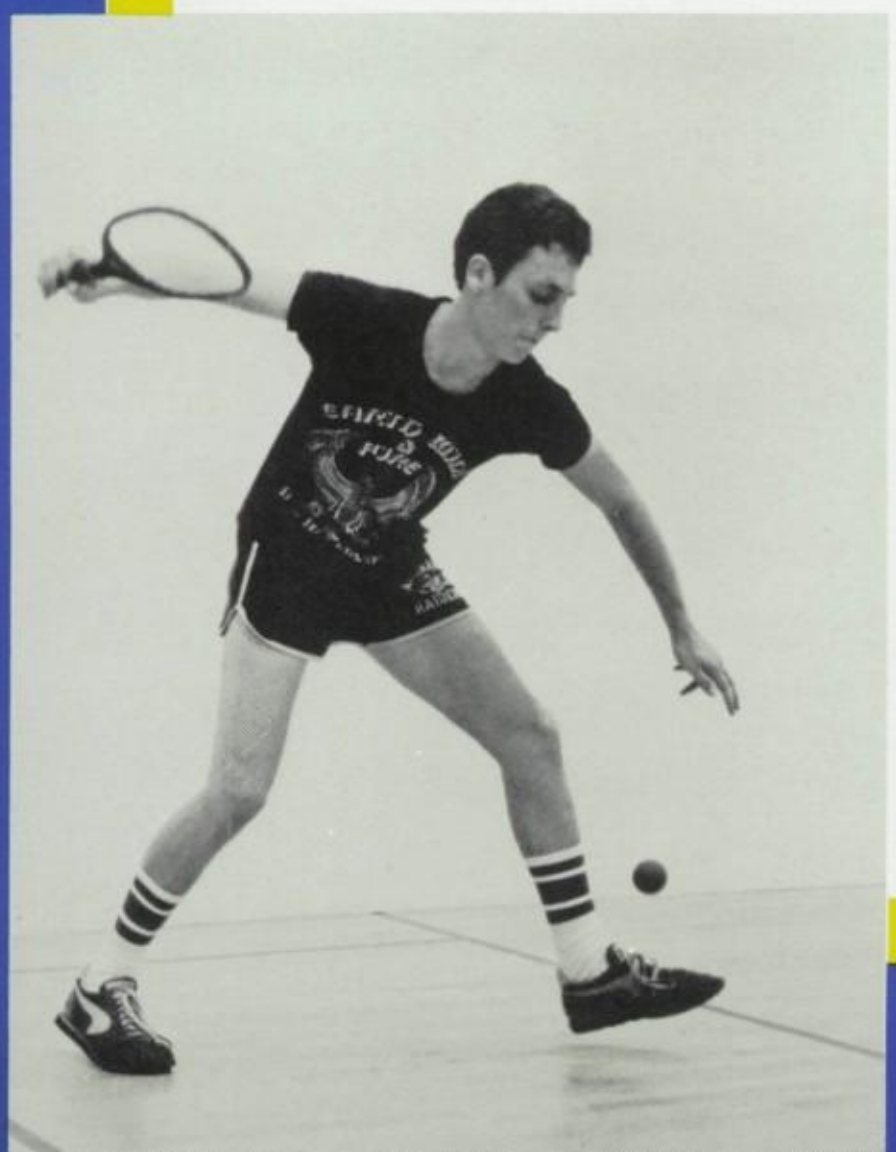
SPORTROO

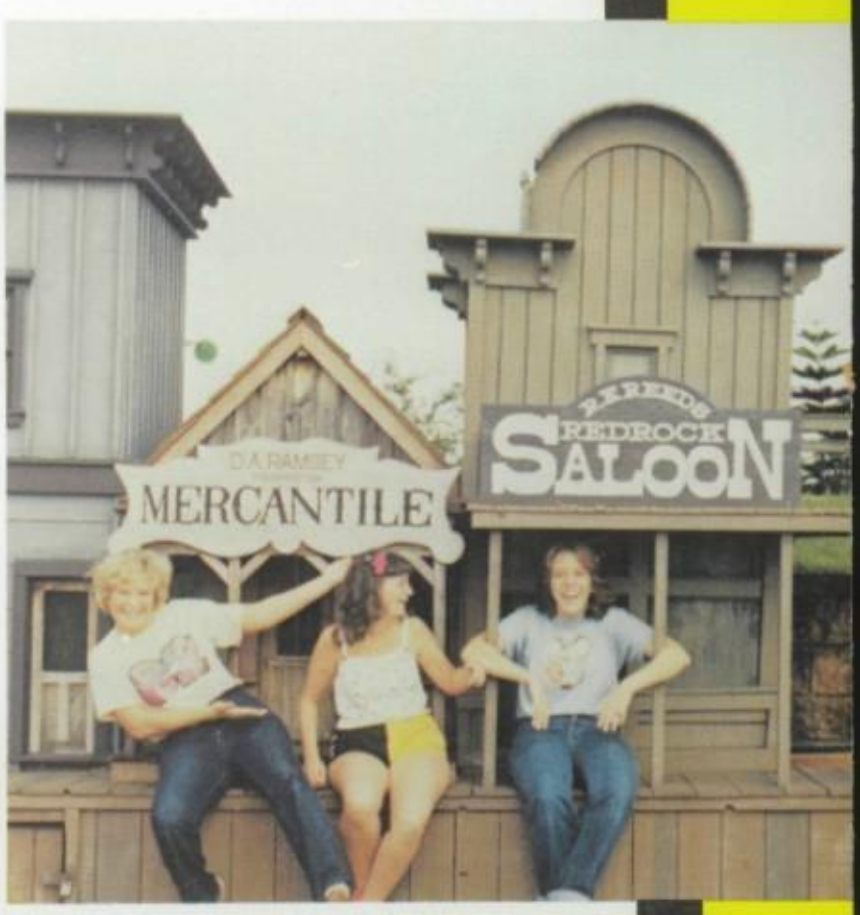
No profit grows where is no pleasure taken.

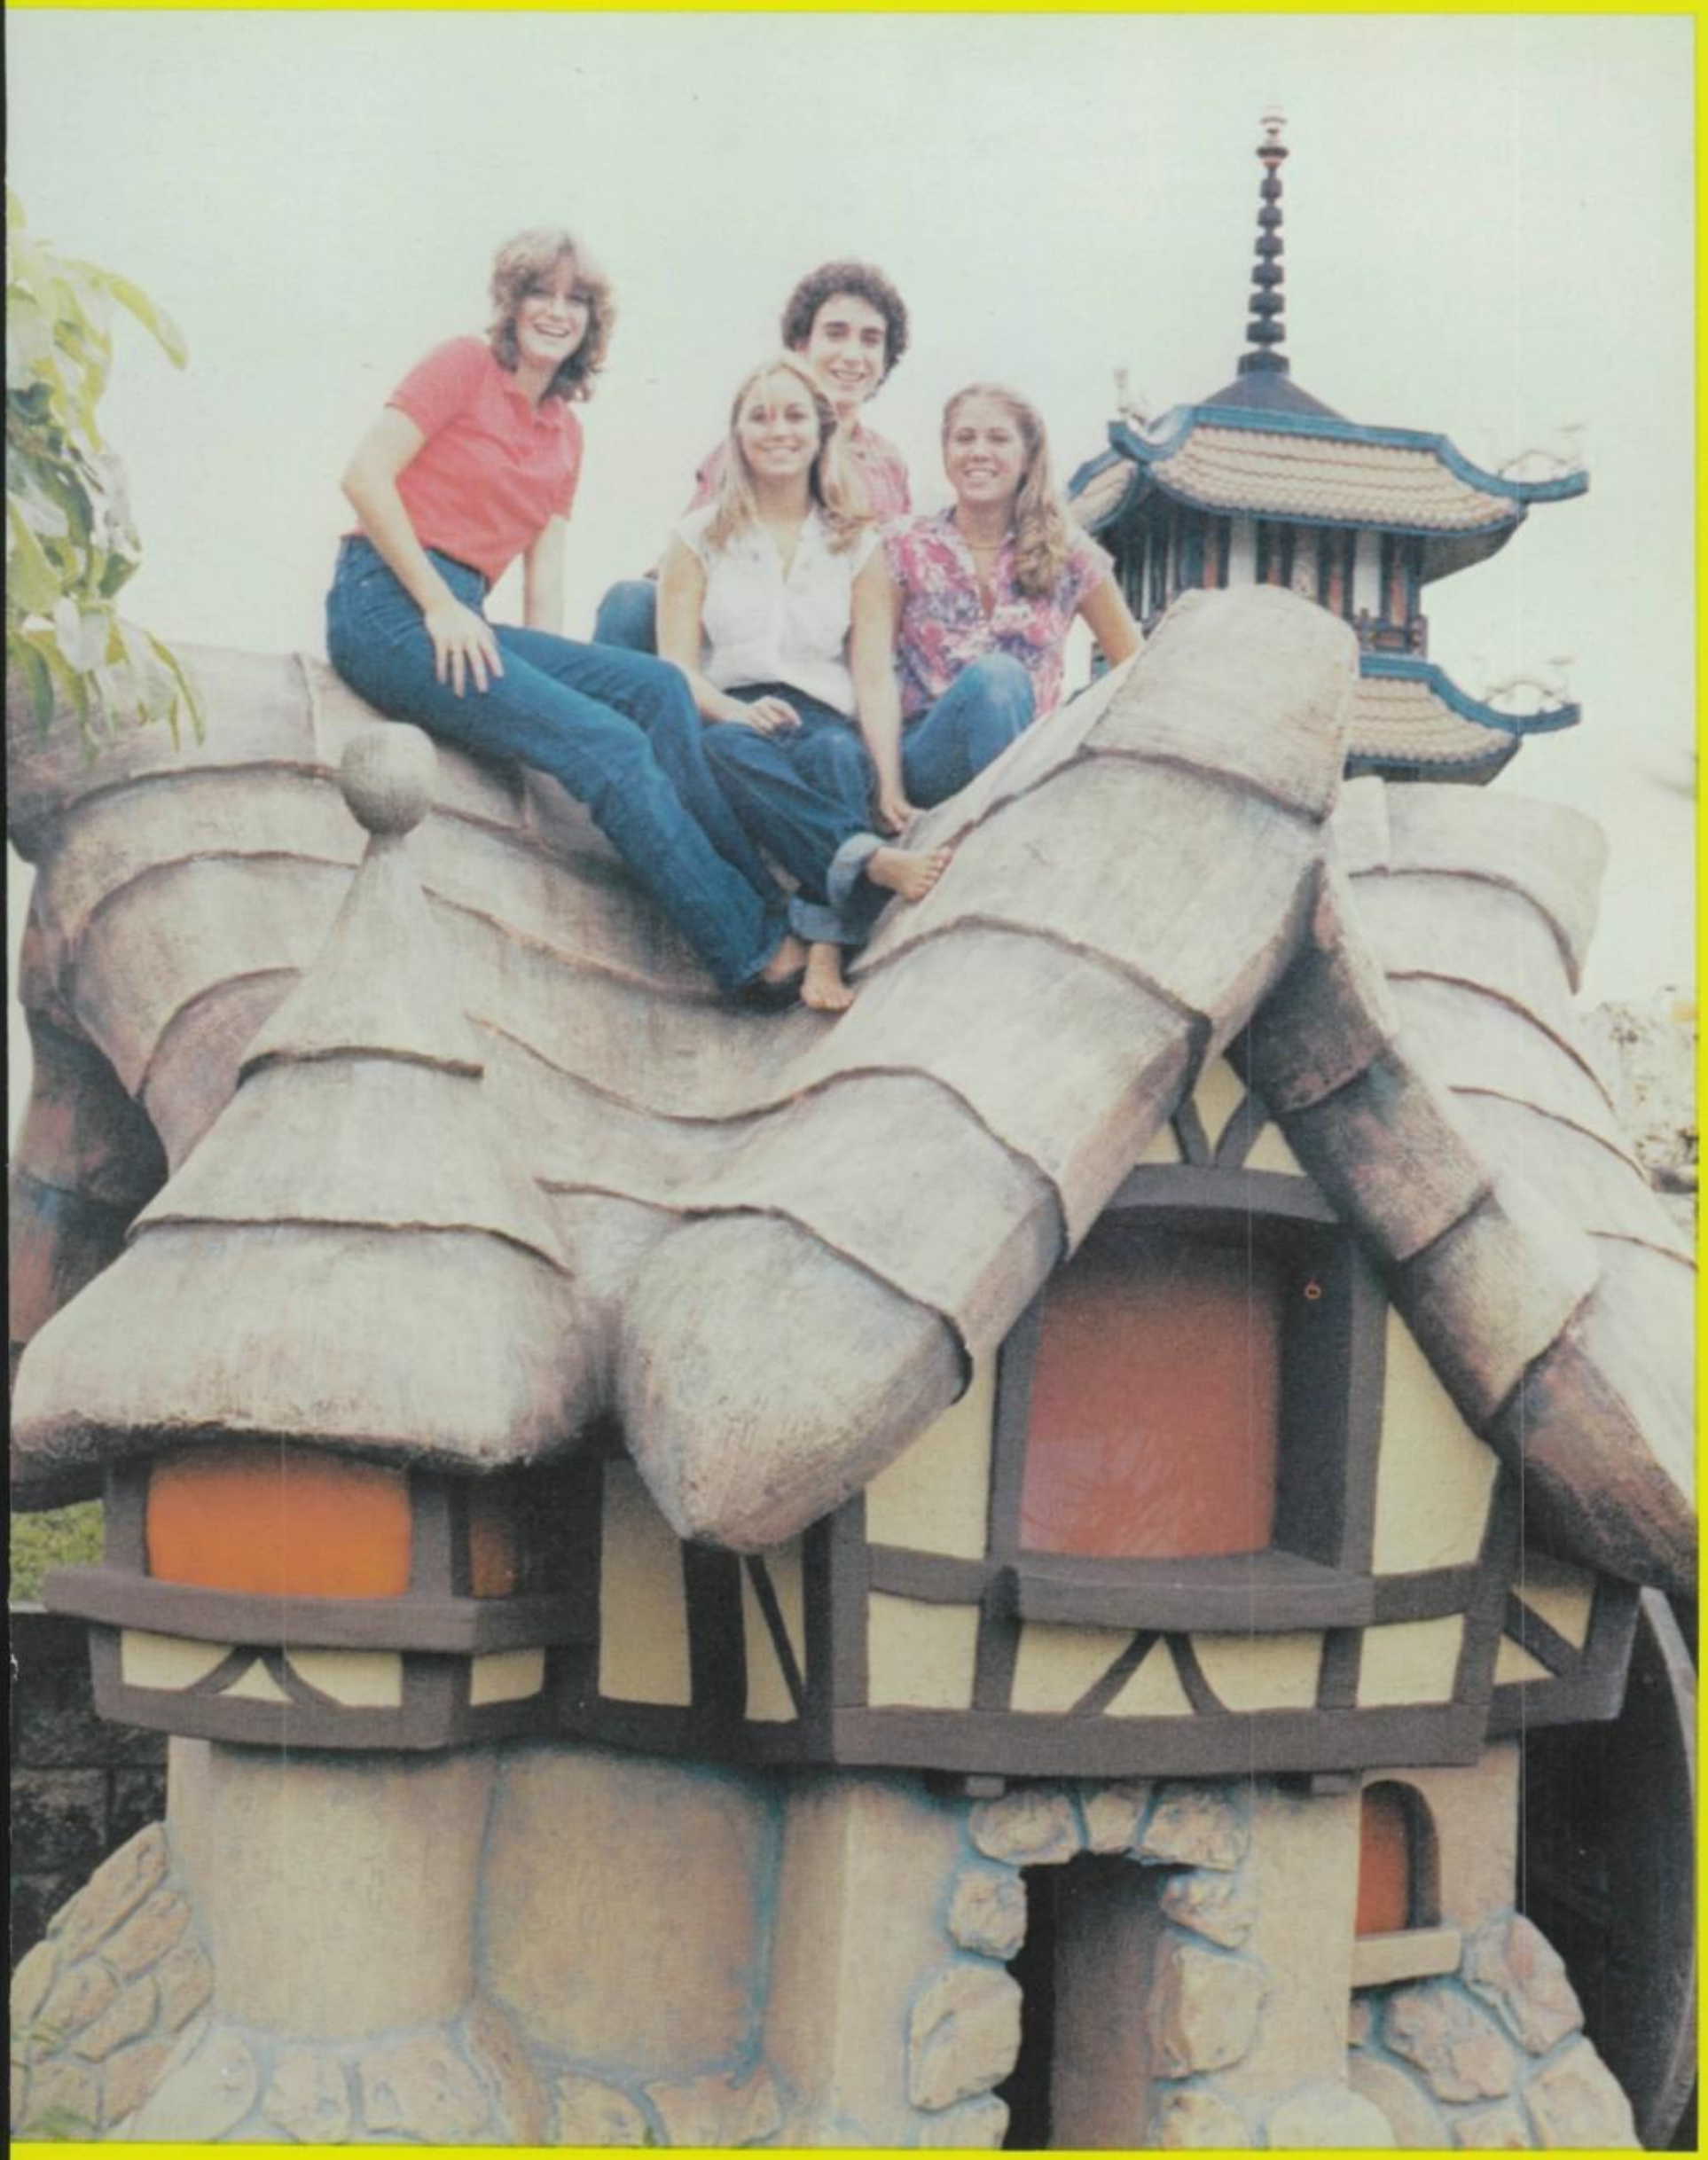






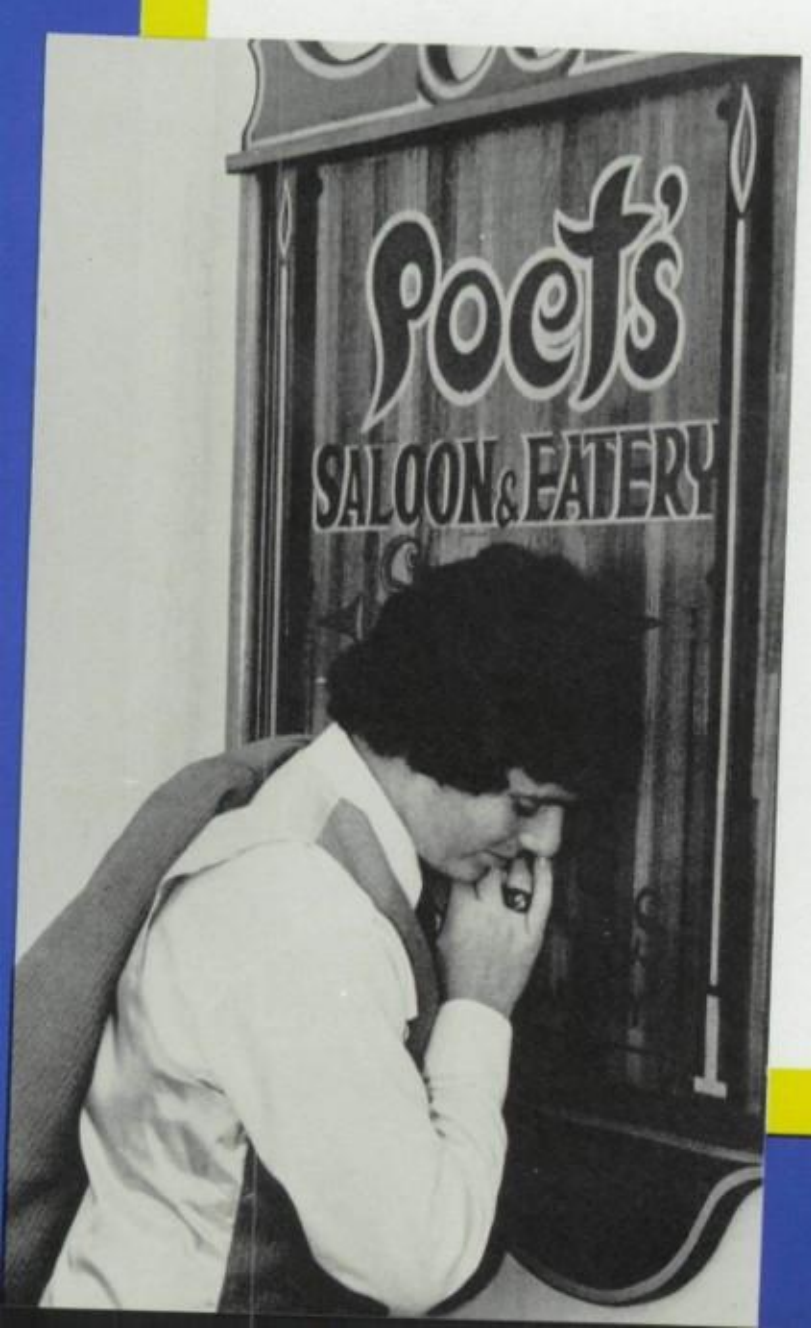
This castle hath a pleasant seat.



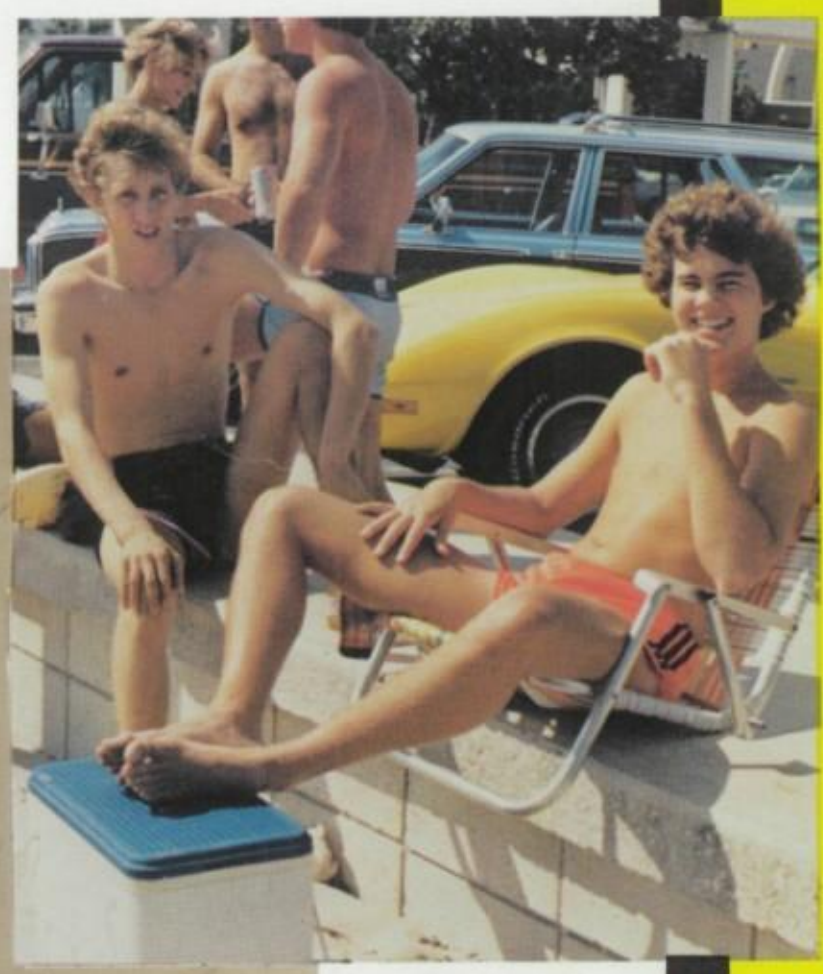


Las Olas

For the apparel oft proclaims the man.



Let the world slip: we shall ne'er be younger.



FORT LAUDERDALE

The man who is above his business, may one day find his business above him.

Dedicated to Susan F. Byrd

Mrs. Byrd joined the St. Thomas Aquinas family in 1977.
Her participation, dedication, and expertise have been a compliment to the total program at St. Thomas.
It is with pride, love, and appreciation that the 1981-1982
Veritas is dedicated to Mrs. Byrd.

"Have I made it perfectly clear?"

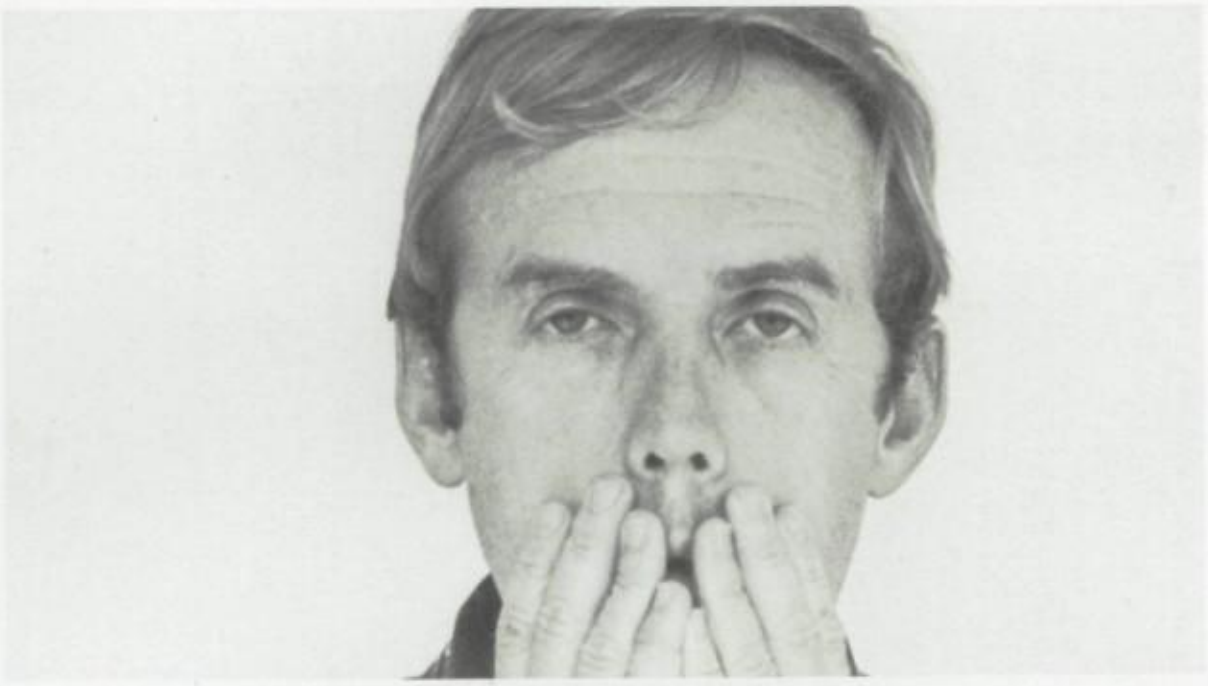
"Life in the fast lane."

"Simon says,
'Do Fagin fingers!' "

These are two historical urchins.

"Why is that statue not in class?"

"Yes. I've been this good looking all my life."



"Has anybody seen my class?"

"It's Buffalo Don!"

"So this is that 'Bozo Harrington'!"

"Do you mean there's a soccer season every year?"

"Do you know what 15% of the check is?"

"Teaching was so much easier when I had the answer key."

To the contributors of the 1982 Veritas -

My staff and I would like to thank those faculty members who have contributed to our yearbook. They have been a great help and a stabilizing influence in the storm of insanity which prevails about our group. Special thanks to the following people:

Miss Cervellera -

for her determination in dictating the dedication

Mrs. Cook and Mrs. Hart -

for the use of their rulers, pencils, stamps, and copy machine

Mrs. Delahunty -

for her unrelenting help and advice based on her years of experience

Mrs. Hickey -

for her financial expertise and the wise appropriation of funds

Sr. Laura -

for the use of her room, which will never be the same since underclass pictures

Mr. Poplar -

for his help with the Senior section

The Coaches -

for their help with the sports pictures

The Club Moderators -

for their prompt and efficient return of forms and their incredible organization

And very special thanks to:

Miss Doody -

for her continued perseverence above and beyond all call of duty and her almost divine guidance and leadership which has made us, the staff, the way we are today.

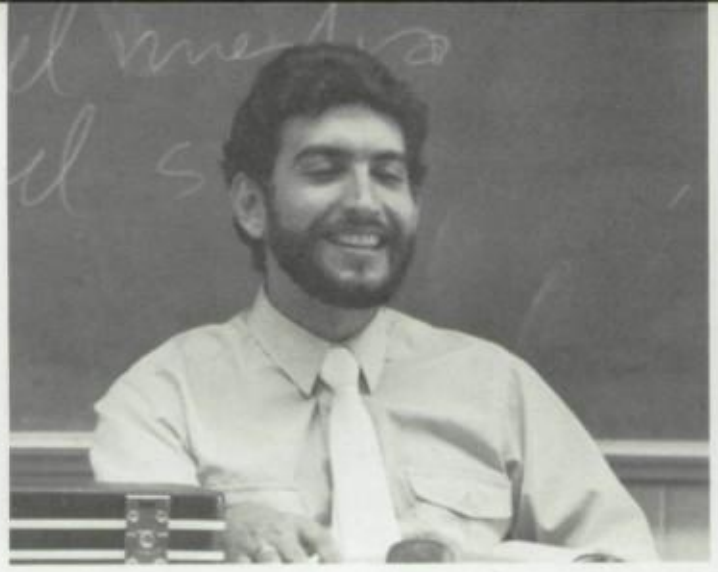
Mrs. Labbe -

for the use of her library, and for many hours of work taking and processing pictures until the wee hours of the morning. For all this and many other things, I thank you mom.

To you, and any whom we may have inadvertently omitted, THANK YOU!

Sincerely,

Joseph R. Labbe
Editor



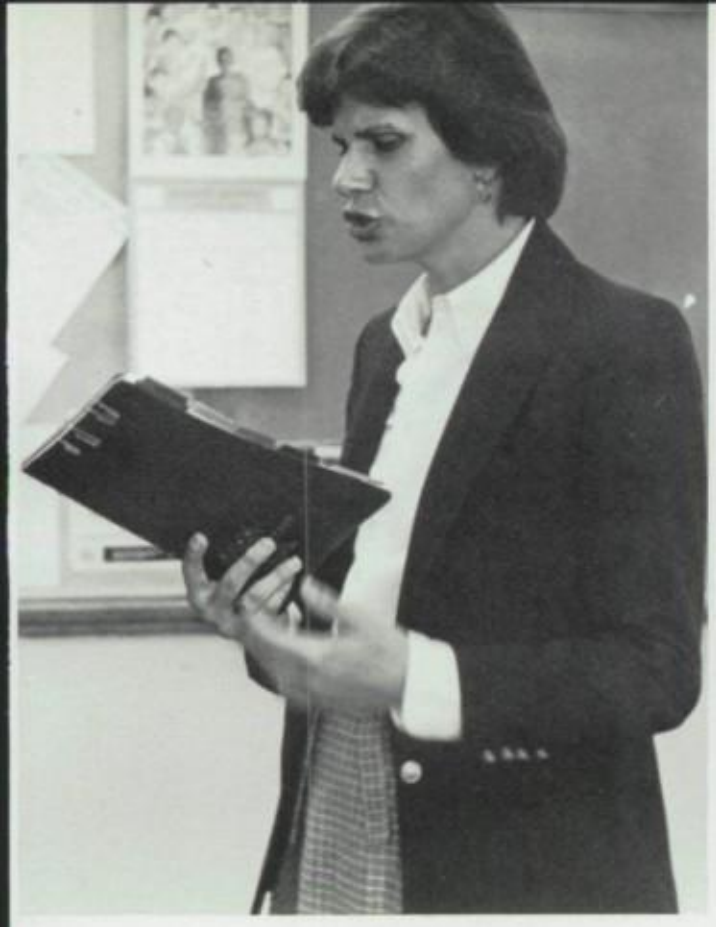
This apple is sure making me sleepy.

No, I won't give you the answers to the test.

You mean I have to plug it in??

Isn't art fun?

Yes, I am the Pep Club moderator, how can you tell?

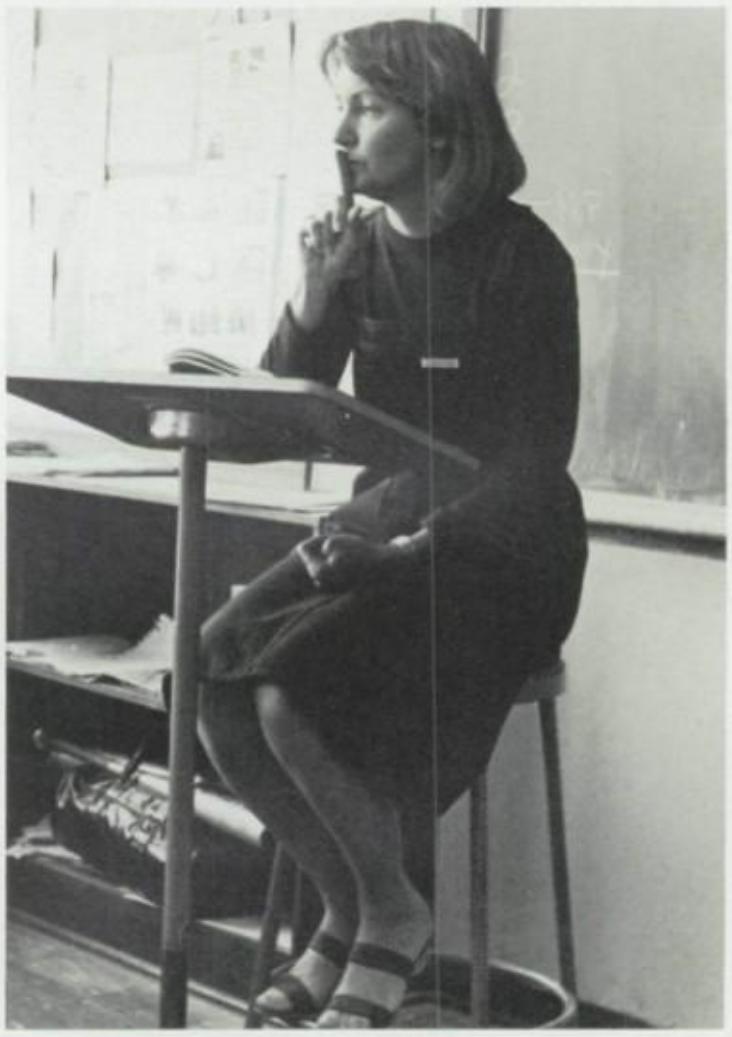


Sh . . . akespeare

Latin is fun for everyone!

One more ski jump, Dan, and so help me . . .

I'd like you to meet my son Hernando.



SHHH!Don't tell my husband I wrecked the Cadillac.

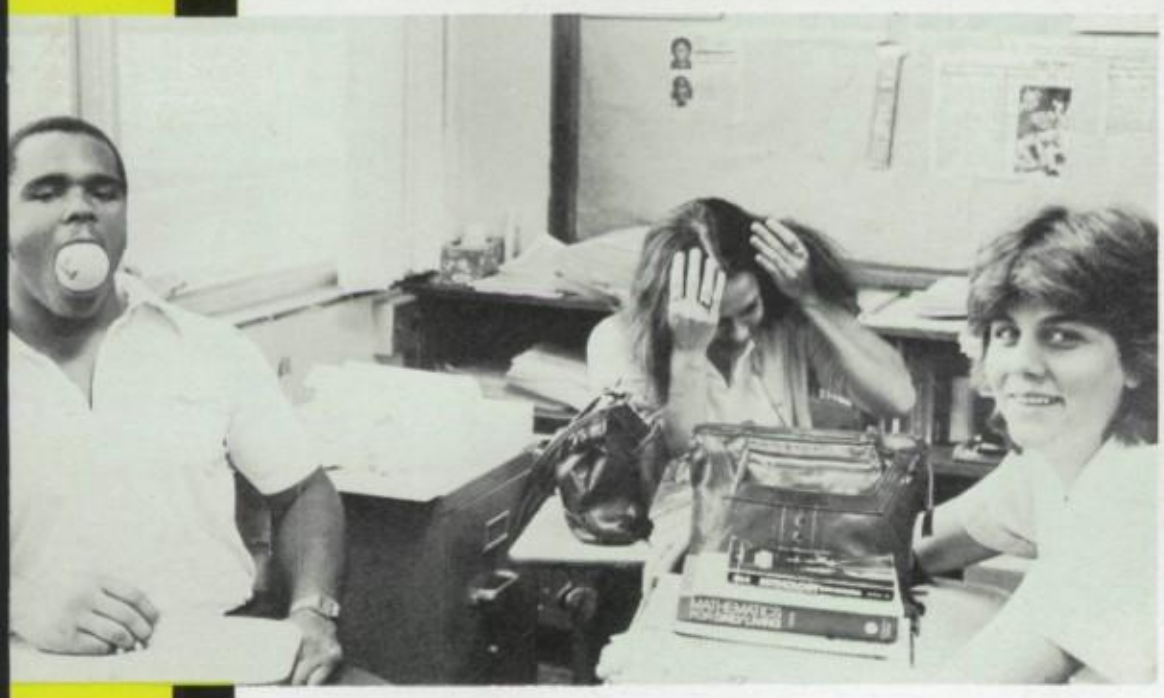
SENIORS



Through the years, as in every class that passes through the halls of St. Thomas, the Seniors of '82 have griped, grumbled, and yes even plotted against our teachers. Up until the fall of this year, we have never learned to appreciate the individual and professional qualities that our teachers had to offer. But as this year has gone on we have built a very special relationship with all of our teachers, new and old. The Senior teachers seemed to open themselves up to us, thus taking a big risk with our class, and it seems that we responded to them. We have accomplished more this year than ever in the history of our class. It has taken the inspiration and motivation of these teachers to get us together, but through the help of them and ourselves, we pulled our class together as one. THANK YOU, TEACHERS OF '82!

SENIOR CLASS

Imagine, if you will. You see before your eyes Father Kelly and Sister John Norton, two perfectly ordinary administrators in a perfectly ordinary school in sedate, quaint Ft. Lauderdale. A new class graduates every year. The routine is usually the same, but not today: April 24, 1978, for on this day they are to meet the class of 82 - a force beyond the scope of sanity, a class later to be lovingly named "Big Losers." For we had entered the Aquinas Zone!

Recently graduated from the trials of eighth grade, the future class of infamy thirsted in anticipation of all the joys and delights that lay ahead. Our class, which had previously attained the heights of grammar school, was suddenly flung from its pedestal as Fr. Kelly informed us that the ensuing week would be fun if we survived it.

The following Monday, our greatest fears were realized as we were confronted with powers we could not equal. The Seniors told us they were our buddies, but, from their rabid eyes, we knew differently. We were subsequently hustled off to a program of humiliation. We were made to endure such humbling acts as blowing out light bulbs, pushing pennies, professing our love to a tree, not to mention the highlight of the week, the day we were forced into the gym to put on clothing that resembled a cast off sale of the Salvation Army. Informally inducted into the mainstream of our school, we now progressed to high school level partying: football games, wild nights at Wendy's, and Freshman dances, where one could barely find a spot on the dance floor to show off designer jeans or new disco steps.

As we began to enter into the life of the student body, we discovered that our high school teachers were a vast change from the teachers who put up with the classroom antics we had displayed before.

Mr. Mikes resurrected the skill that many of us perfected during kindergarten-coloring. The biggest "I learned statement" in the class was that we learned nothing of use. At the end of the first semester we left this jovial atmosphere to move to our good friend Sister Jane who filled us up with such Christian stories as sharks and babies being left on ledges. She also provided us with enough bookmarks of various colored paper which would last us to the end of our lives. The majority of our class was blessed with the dubious honor of having Sister "Hot-rod" Laura for Freshman English. She turned our parking lot into a veritable Grand Prix. It is rumored that during the off-season last year, she placed a strong third behind Bobby Unser and Mario Andretti at Indianapolis.

Our first attempt or action as a unified body was a success in that we discovered a savior in Mrs. Jones who "persuaded" her seniors to assist in the construction of Marmaduke.

The rest of Freshman year was rather uneventful as we discovered a common principle of STA - the exclusion of Freshmen from anything fun and exciting. Namely - everything.

But now we were Sophomores, our confidence in ourselves was boosted by the fact that the incoming Freshmen class was uglier than sin, making our meager attempts at ineptitude trivial by comparison. So we relinquished the market on ignorance which we had cornered and turned our minds towards higher education. Actually, ignorance was a surer bet. However, we wanted to be challenged, so we enrolled in "Pantomime Geometry 101" with Mrs. Moran, where even the most novel, grandiose mathematical concepts, such as line segments and squares, were brought down to our level. We were so proud of our graphing with this subject that during tests we felt compelled to "share" our attempts at responding to questions. We maintained a caliber of chaos unmatched in the halls of STA . . . We had more precision than our band as we rotated tests like a volleyball team and more often than we rotated our tires. Mrs. Moran was impervious to even the largest of spitballs as they deflected harmlessly off her desk and rolled out into the hall crushing students and overturning small shrubs. Luckily, to balance this, we attended Mrs. Sica's chemistry class where we kept a tab on the structural damage which ran into six digits. Mrs. Sica was a fearless dictator who refused to submit to our demands to be intellectually nurtured. Finally, we overthrew our authoritarian, siezed bunsen burners and set fire to a cockroach - our first and only experiment of the year. The person who stole Miss McInnis' precious drop of Alaskan Pipeline Oil was apprehended in Argentina last week on a nonrelated charge.

Mr. Bush was an intimidating figure who thought that anyone taller than he who wasn't playing basketball was a waste of good flesh. He was so overwhelming that even a person who will be known only as the "bad ass," fainted during a speech and was saved from falling from the second floor by a filing cabinet which has recently been punished for its actions.

Mr. Hackett's class proved a tough one indeed, as some of us just couldn't hack it. The dreaded Hackett's packets just seemed to attract disaster. Between our two year old brother's eating and the four impoverished children who stole them for firewood, our packets just never seemed to reach his desk on time.

Mr. Martinez, alias "the Bird Man," was the creator of the morality survey or, in our case, the immorality test. Of course, buying an expensive imported cockatoo increased our grade. And who could forget the infamous baby face Kelly who entertained us to no end with unusual college experiences and a retinue of baby and dog jokes which would leave our class in hysterics — occasionally!

We reverted back to childhood with our Sesame Street fever float which just flopped like Big Bird's wings.

At this point, Miss Coyle, in her Christian compassion, was our only hope. When we had given up on ourselves, this was a teacher who actually believed in us. Was it true? Did she say we were her favorite class? Ever???????

It was obvious who we could assume was the highlight of our junior year. Between cosines and tangents and lessons in modern morality, Brother Ralph proved to be much more than we expected in a Marianist Brother. By the way, we hope we're not interrupting your busy schedule. For Theology, many of us were blessed with Brother Don, a man who never met a five and dime he didn't like. Brother Donald quickly became the trend setter of our class with his flashy mix and match clothes, getting full value from his two suits. Brother will be glad to hear that we no longer listen to K102 or even WSHE. We now listen to WDON for the latest in gospel news. Mr. Carney, being so depressed over the end of the Viet-Nam War, turned to the extreme - teaching Theology at STA. He ran his classes with the same precision that he ran his troops, which is possibly why the war lasted so long. As for English, those of us fortunate enough to have Mrs. Delahunty will never forget her tidbits which smacked of irrelevancy or her saying, "If you ever get the chance to travel - Go!" This motivated us to visit such foreign lands as Peoria and Cleveland.

HISTORY 81 - 82

When Homecoming rolled around again, much to the dismay of our class, we put aside our petty squabbles and worked together for a common goal. The pinnacle of our class' pride, our Haunted Mansion float, proved frightening indeed as the crowd was seen making massive dashes for the bathroom as the unstable superstructure precariously teetered around the track. Though the other classes tried to equal our accomplishment, it was a futile effort as we secured last place two years running. Preoccupied with the float, we neglected our hall, and the unthinkable occured - we came in third thus breaking our string of utter defeats which had labeled us "The Class of Losers."

Although the girls had a lock on cliques, the boys did make their attempts, as the S.O.S. gang swept through the junior boys. Calini rolled around and Laurie and Boom-boom siezed control and destroyed our class' pride, the heartbreakers of heartbreakers - WE WON! Disillusioned juniors knew something was wrong. The scoring was off. The officials were somehow bribed. The juniors were stunned for "daze." As morning broke, it dawned on us we knew the good old days were gone. Yes, we did something right for a change. After three years of being on the bottom of the heap we were now at the top. It all changed in one fateful night, utterly altering the lives of 314 young innocent juniors. We were now experienced - winners, a position we would not give up without a fight.

Do you remember the night you spent over $100 and regretted it!? Well, that was Prom. It all started with a lovely drive up I-95 which, unfortunately, only lasted an hour if you knew the way. As May 15th approached a dreadful thing occurred; the seniors had all left and the Class of '82 ruled. A gloomy day it proved to be, as it would cause St. Thomas many long hours and sleepless nights. 82's D-Day had arrived, and the spotlight finally came upon us, even though we were plagued by both critics and pessimists, history proves that we surmounted these obstacles and emerged into our own.

At last we attained our long awaited goal. We rose to the heights of Seniors. Luckily Mr. Poplar was there to prevent us from becoming too proud as his rousing "finger speech" emphasized that, yes, we were still the losers that we had set out to be.

Our first attempt at becoming the apple of Mr. Poplar's eye failed when, through misinterpretation of the rules of initiation, some over-zealous Senior crossed the bounds of welcoming the little idgets in good taste. We, however, redeemed ourselves and were permitted the privilege of displaying the Frosh out on the track in the parade of fools to insure that they would always be humbled by our presence. All was not lost as our class, in a major upset, succeeded in winning the first spirit stick ever in our history. This was merely step one in our plan. Our next event was hall decoration. The results of which are still under intense investigation by the FBI. But after long hours and much labor, the Senior lunar lander appeared out on the track and the competition surrendered all hopes of winning, especially when the industrial engineers working on the freshman float quit because of labor disputes. The Senior float, our proud work, burned during an attempted launch out in Betty's boonies.

The finale prior to Christmas break was highlighted by our Senior led football teams eleven and one record. We achieved where others had failed. STA's only undefeated regular season! This ended in a disappointing loss on a mysteriously wet field. From this team emerged the group of unique and different Seniors affectionately known as "YUKERS" translated into modern day English - "unsociables" and in Swahili, "I want eat lizard."

Perhaps the only outsider to associate with the YUKERS was Father Harris whose special way of delivering a Mass brought our class together. Two other faculty members that stand out in the miracle turn-around of our class are the Senior Class moderators, Mr. Poplar and Mrs. Sullivan. Mr. Poplar finally changed his mind. Unfortunately, this one was as muddled as the last one, but at least it tolerated us. In Mrs. Sullivan's room, when first semester ended, everyone's opinion was welcome as long as it coincided with hers. We suffered a cultural shock as we switched from being fully human to being fully alive with Mr. Morina. By the end of the year, we knew we'd be full of it!!!

In the typing room, students were subject to Sister Jean's niceties. She was often heard to say, "Don't key peek." "Don't encourage him," and "Who sneezed?"

STA is presently under investigation for breaking illegal immigration laws; that is, importing Scottish alien teachers to instruct in physics and chemistry. Despite being in class, Miss Johnson's whereabouts are unknown. Just down the hall, one can catch the odor of Mrs. Schack's perfume, the air of formaldihyde. Upon entrance to her room, one must be careful where he steps, as some Seniors' tolerance level is less than adequate for grueling disection of cats and rats.

Speaking of animals, we were introduced to frog kissing, a prelude to the now infamous encounter spirit which is running rampant like the plaque throughout our school. This is only one of the spiritual enlightenments of this great year. Others included numerous class masses and sunrise masses and the RTR Days which welcome back the encounterites. In case you don't know what an RTR Mass is, ask "Fitz."

1982 also brought us two new teachers. Mr. Heller and his love for Notre Dame, and Mrs. Macchi from the rather mundane surroundings of Connecticut. She did not fully comprehend the explosiveness of the class of 82. Beset by the overpowering and inspiring personalities of our school, she entered the hazy area between sanity and madness, Room 354. She became the last on a long list to enter the Aquinas Zone.

As we expected, the metamorphosis of high school life took place, changing from freshmen to sophomores, to juniors to seniors, much as the color of Brother Donald's hair changed from brown to green to black to grey. We can only look back on those byegone days where Seniors were Seniors, and Freshmen wish they were too.

COACHES

THANK-YOU COACHES

We, the Veritas staff and students of S.T.A., would like to express our deepest appreciation to all of the coaches who donated their effort and time to S.T.A. sports. We would like to thank all those managed, assisted, or just aided our teams in this 1981-82 season. We aspire that our efforts put forth were equal to yours; and hope that the coaches of S.T.A. have enjoyed coaching as much as we have enjoyed playing and watching. Lastly, we hope that all of our present coaching staff will return next year to what promises to be better than our great 1981-82 season. Once again, thank-you coaches of STA.

MR. LITZINGER

The Veritas Staff and the whole student body would like to thank Mr. Litzinger for all his efforts over the past thirty-seven years. He has taught in the classroom and has managed all athletic events in this great 1981-82 season. Bo Litzinger has scheduled and arranged all the matches, games, and tournaments, throughout the year. We regret, wholeheartedly, losing such a man who is an integral part of our superb sports program at S.T.A. We wish him the best of luck in the future and may God bless him in all he does. Goodbye Bo!

Retiring after 37 years!

Leaving for a coffee break?

Lisa,
Yes, this year is finally over and we did make it. Next year - Seniors! There are so many memories of so many good times. Remember: our song, "My Boyfriend ... !", the movies, Dina's publix and thier employees, cruising down the beach, a run at the H.O.T.C. of Hillsboro and "Boy, WMRBFU", New Years Eve, and "We're in the same boat whether you know it or not!" We've had too much fun!

Well, what more can I say? You're a super person and a super best friend. We've learned so much and have gone through so much. Stay wild, fun, and out of trouble.

Love ya,
Lynn

Dear Graduates,

As you finish these years of competitive learning, test-taking and goal-seeking, I hope you'll continue to follow the paths you have chosen in life. Whether it involves further formal education or learning by practical experience, continue to compete with yourself and friends in striving for excellence. Know the feeling of satisfaction in doing your best always. If you have no more teachers, be sure to test yourself — don't let your life "fail" in achievement or happiness. Each day, be happy in reaching a goal, no matter how small; and, always set another for tomorrow.

As you graduate, I hope many of you stay in this neighborhood, or, return here after college, to help perpetuate the fine character of this community. And when you do, I hope you'll look upon Scot Drug Mutual as the neighborhood pharmacy we have tried to be.

Lots of Luck!!

Sincerely,

David J. Hitchcock RPh
